Education

Doctor of Philosophy, Biostatistics — Expected: May 2019
Harvard University, Cambridge, MA

Masters of Arts, Biostatistics — May 2016
Harvard University, Cambridge, MA

Bachelor of Arts and Science, Mathematics and Anthropology — May 2012
McGill University, Montreal, QC

Research Experience

Department of Biostatistics, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health — Boston, MA
Graduate Researcher — January 2016 – Present
Dissertation Advisor: Eric Tchetgen Tchetgen, PhD

My dissertation research aims to develop statistical methods to enable scientists to infer causation about an intervention of interest in the presence of (1) unmeasured confounding of the relationship of interest and (2) spillover effects of the intervention given to one person on another person's outcomes.

Graduate Researcher — June 2016 – March 2017
Supervised by: Paige Williams, PhD

Estimated the direct and indirect effects of perinatal HIV infection on timing of sexual maturity mediated by height in the Pediatric HIV/AIDS Cohort Study.

Department of Global Health and Social Medicine, Harvard Medical School — Boston, MA
Graduate Researcher — June 2016 – March 2017
Supervised by: Bethany Hedt-Gauthier, PhD

Assessed the effectiveness of D-tree International's Mobilizing Maternal Health program in rural Tanzania.

Consulting Experience

Research Center, Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts — Boston, MA
Statistical Consultant — August 2017 – Present

Leading statistical analyses to evaluate the impact of the Massachusetts parental consent law on contraceptive choice among minors.

Safer Deliveries Program, D-tree International — Zanzibar, Tanzania
Researcher — May 2017 – August 2017

Conducted research and evaluation question development, analysis planning, and application of statistical methods to assess the program's effectiveness at reducing high rates of maternal and neonatal mortality in Zanzibar.
